

Paul has served WAP well by becoming an industry leader, developing meaningful partnerships with health plans, growing outstanding relationships with agencies and helping individual agents achieve their greatest potential. Internally, Paul has led his teams to success with a precision focus on strategies around health plan development and creating the best broker experience possible. His ability to motivate and inspire through his dynamic leadership style has become his trademark.